Russell Brennan Keane appoints Restructuring & Insolvency Partner

From L/R: Conor Woods (Partner), Jackie Masterson (Partner), Liam Rattigan (Chief Executive) and Brendan O'Donoghue.

Russell Brennan Keane has announced today that Brendan O'Donoghue has been appointed as a partner in the firm. Prior to joining Russell Brennan Keane in 2008, Brendan practiced as a corporate recovery specialist for over 20 years and he is recognised as a leading expert in restructuring and insolvency in Ireland. "I am delighted Brendan is joining our partnership team, his elevation is well deserved as he adds critical expertise to the Firm and an extra dimension of support to partner colleagues working with clients in a challenged environment" said Liam Rattigan, the firms Chief Executive.

Brendan is a Fellow of the Institute of Certified Public Accountants in Ireland. He is Chairman of the Institute's Insolvency Sub-Committee and a founding member of the Irish Society of Insolvency Practitioners (ISIP). A joint author of the recently published "Members Voluntary Liquidation Workpack" by Chartered Accountants Ireland, he has lectured extensively and is a frequent contributor to media on insolvency and corporate recovery topics.

Brendan can be contacted at bodonoghue@rbk.ie or (01) 6440100.
